Whether it's for the community or hospitality industry, Larry Law, Owner and CEO of Living Water Resort & Spa, has strived to build community presence. "10 years ago, I took this business as a mission, a mission to serve in love; applying Servant Leadership to serve first and then to lead", said Larry Law. "Together our work has proven that we can make a difference and help Collingwood remain the charismatic and inspiring place it is today."

From an industry prospective, Larry has created and built a community of over 450 staff and has grown the Cranberry Village brand from an existing Inn that was on the property into an entire village made up of multiple types of accommodation including two hotels of close to 400 rooms, 9,000 vacation memberships, homes, multiple restaurants, a championship golf course, marina, a wedding and conference center, and one-of-a-kind spa. Larry looks to continue to help grow the tourism sector and community of Collingwood even further.
